

The most prestigious award in the Danish tax profession is the Karnov Tax Prize. This prize is awarded at an annual celebrational event organized by Karnov Group.

This year was no exception, and in accordance with the tradition the prize ceremony was hosted by a foreign embassy in Denmark. The Norwegian ambassador Katja Nordgaard most kindly hosted the event this year, with presentations from Norwegian tax expert Bettina Banoun and Minister for Taxation Jeppe Bruus .

For CORIT this evening was truly remarkable and victorious, since both the main Karnov Prize as well as the Karnov Prize for the best tax thesis were both awarded to team members. Anders Nørgaard Laursen, professor and of counsel was awarded the Karnov Prize for his overall contributions to the field of tax law. The prize was thoroughly presented by Supreme Court Justice Lars Apostoli and the Minister for Taxation.

Moreover, our colleague, Daniel Rath was awarded the Karnov Prize for the best student master thesis within the field of tax law. Daniel has authored a brilliant thesis concerning the tax legislation regarding R&D incentives in a legal as well as policy-oriented manner. The prize was presented by Christer Tønder Bell, head of tax of the LEGO Group.

We congratulate and celebrate our excellent colleagues in their achievements and are immensely proud being an unparalleled firm in terms of such merits in the tax profession.

Apart from the prize recipient the photograph includes our new partner Karl Berlin, and our two previous prize winners Niels Winther-Sørensen and Jakob Bundgaard.
